

Lucien Engelen

Director Reshape Center for Health(care) Innovation Radboud University Nijmegen Medical Centre, Netherlands

It is at the intersection of technology and patient empowerment, which is where Lucien Engelen (1962), director of the Radboud University Nijmegen Medical Centre REshape Center and advisor to the Board of Directors feels most at home. The two worlds combined into the Radboud University Nijmegen Medical Centre and Singularity University in Silicon Valley & the Netherlands and in the Nordics he's modus operandi is always challenging, sometimes provocative but always techno-realistic. The objective is to keep Radboud University Nijmegen Medical Centre at the forefront of innovation and to have a soft landing in the future meanwhile creating a sustainable global health(care) for all .

Motto : "Stop talking, dare to fail ... but start acting."

To empower patients and their family with technology as an enabler and transformation tool is my personal motto, keeping in mind the ethical aspects of the "what if we could do everything" question.
