Important Information

Give-away articles and advertising materials are subject to full duties and taxes upon importation into Canada as they are not allowed to enter under the provisions of the temporary importation regulations. Any goods that remain in Canada that were entered under the temporary importation regulations will be entered on a consumption entry and the exhibitor is responsible for all duties and taxes assessed by Canada Customs.

Under no circumstances are any goods that were entered into Canada under the provisions of the temporary importation regulations to be removed from the exhibition site without the permission of our company. All goods removed without permission will be subject to full duties and taxes.

Special notes for US and Mexican Exhibitors

Canada-United States-Mexico Agreement (CUSMA) Form should be completed to cover all giveaway or re-sale items manufactured in either the United States or Mexico. This will allow for duty free entry on most of these items. This does not exempt the goods from payment of the 5% G.S.T.

Special notes for US Exhibitors

The FCC and FDA regulates the importation or re-importation of items which emit radio frequencies (televisions, radios, computers, communications equipment). An FCC & FDA form must be completed in order for these items to be re-imported into the United States. Our representatives will determine whether you require these forms prior to the exportation of your goods from show site and will assist you in the completion of same.

Any items made of textiles will require a Textile Declaration to allow the goods to be re-imported into the United States. Our representatives will determine whether you require this form and will assist you in the completion of same.

Expo Express. will provide the exhibitors utilizing us with outbound shipping labels. It is the exhibitor's responsibility to ensure that the goods are packed and labeled. Previous shipping labels must be removed. Expo Express accepts no responsibility for misdirected shipments due to old shipping labels.

Exhibitors using Expo Express. for the return shipment of their materials must pack and label all goods. Please leave the goods in your booth space and our staff will ensure that they are removed from show site by the appropriate carrier.
